UNITY
2010

“You are witnesses of these things.”

What witness will the world receive?

Welcome to Tampa!

A warm welcome to you on behalf of the Local Planning Committee
from our Chair, Rev. Russell L. Meyer

TAMPA sits on the eastern bay of the Gulf of Mexico. Along with its sister cities on the other side of the bay, the Tampa Bay area is a center of Florida life. From powdered sand beaches and water sports to theme parks and sports teams, it's a destination vacation spot for the world. At the end of April, the days will be warm and comfortable, cooling off at night – a perfect time to visit. The bay is a witness to a fragile ecosystem of land and sea supporting greater and greater demands from human development. Our witness to the gospel in a post-modern, interreligious world faces parallel demands to show that faith in Christ delivers on the promise of life.

Over the many years that the National Workshop has been meeting we have nurtured our common vision that, as Jesus prayed, the Church may be more visibly one. We have come together as Christians who diligently work on building relationships, developing dialogue, finding commonalities, and honoring differences. The workshop is a retreat and a vocation – a time of spiritual and professional refreshment and a time for us to listen to our greater calling as the baptized of one faith, one Lord and one Spirit. It's a time to invite more people to see the vision of a Church in unity, set in a fragile world in disarray. Come, let us re-discover together these things of which we are witnesses – in hope that the world will receive the good news of healing and salvation.

Featured Speakers for NWCU2010

OPENING WORSHIP

April 19 – 7:30 p.m., Sacred Heart Catholic Church

The Most Reverend Katharine Jefferts Schori

Presiding Bishop and Primate, The Episcopal Church

Bishop Jefferts Schori was elected to this office in 2006, for a term lasting until November 2015. She has been vocal about the Episcopal Church's mission priorities, including the UN Millennium Development Goals, issues of domestic poverty, climate change and care for the earth, as well as the ongoing need to contextualize the gospel. Bishop Jefferts Schori's career as an oceanographer preceded her studies for the priesthood, to which she was ordained in 1994. She served as Bishop of Nevada before election to this post. Bishop Jefferts Schori grew up in the Seattle area, lived a few years in New Jersey, but has spent most of her life in the West. Bishop Jefferts Schori and her husband, Richard Miles Schori, a retired mathematician (topologist), were married in 1979. They have one daughter, who is a captain (pilot) in the U.S. Air Force.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

April 20 – 9:30 a.m., Hotel Ballroom

Archbishop Wilton D. Gregory

Archdiocese of Atlanta

Archbishop Wilton D. Gregory, ordained a priest in Chicago in 1973, earned his doctorate in sacred liturgy at the Pontifical Liturgical Institute (Sant' Anselmo) in Rome in 1980. Ordained an auxiliary bishop of Chicago in 1983, he was installed as the seventh bishop of the Diocese of Belleville, IL, in 1994. In 2004, Pope John Paul II appointed him as the sixth archbishop of the Archdiocese of Atlanta.

Archbishop Gregory was elected president of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops in Nov. 2001. Under his leadership, the bishops implemented the "Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People" in response to the crisis of sex abuse by Catholic clergy. He served on the NCCB Executive and Administrative Committees, the Administrative Board, the Committee on Doctrine and the U.S. Catholic Conference Committee on International Policy. He previously served as the chairman of the Bishops' Committees on Personnel and the Third Millennium/Jubilee Year 2000 from 1998-2001, and Liturgy from 1991-93.

Archbishop Gregory has written extensively on church issues, including pastoral statements on the death penalty and euthanasia/physician-assisted suicide, and has published numerous articles on the subject of liturgy, particularly in the African-American community. He has also been recognized with a number of honorary degrees and awards, including the Sword of Loyola from St. Louis University in 2004, induction into the Martin Luther King Board of Preachers at Morehouse College, Atlanta in 2006, and also in 2006, the Cardinal Bernardin Award given by the Catholic Common Ground Initiative.

He currently serves as Chairman of the Bishops' Committee for Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs for the US Conference of Catholic Bishops.

WEDNESDAY BIBLE STUDY

April 21, 8:45-10:45 & 1:15-2:45, Hotel Ballroom

Rev. Dr. Bruce Chilton

Professor of New Testament and Early Christian Literature at the University of Chicago Divinity School.

Bruce Chilton is Bernard Iddings Bell Professor of Religion at Bard College, and Rector of the Church of St John the Evangelist. He is an expert on the New Testament and early Judaism, and has contributed fifty books and more than a hundred articles to those fields of study. His principal scholarship has been in the understanding of Jesus within Judaism and in the critical study of the Targumim, the Aramaic paraphrases of the Bible. Jesus appears clearly as a rabbinic teacher in Dr. Chilton's analysis, on the basis of his study of the Targum of Isaiah, which he has edited and translated in the first commentary ever written on that book.

WEDNESDAY PLENARY ON LOCAL RECEPTION

April 21 – 10:30am, Hotel Ballroom

Speaker: Rev. Dr. William G. Rusch

The Divinity School, Yale University, & New York Theological Seminary

William G. Rusch is a Lutheran pastor who has served as Executive Director of the Foundation for a Conference on Faith and Order in North America and as the Director of the Department of Ecumenical Affairs of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

He was a member of several dialogues, the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches, and the Committee on Ecumenical Relations of the Lutheran World Federation.

Rusch was the Jean-Marie Tillard Distinguished Professor of Ecumenical Theology at the Angelicum University in Rome. He has edited or authored 21 books and written over 110 articles on ecumenical and patristic themes. His most recent publications are Ecumenical Reception: Its Challenge and Opportunity, and as editor The Pontificate of Benedict XVI: Its Premises and Promises.

His presentation is titled "Ecumenical Reception: Its Challenge and Opportunity for the Churches." He will describe the concept of ecumenical reception and how and why this topic is before the churches – because of the various dialogues of the last several decades. It will point out that the churches have taken some juridical actions on the basis of the dialogues, but there is much more that the churches, nationally and locally, could now do. The presentation will point out the fragile nature of the present ecumenical moment and conclude with some general suggestions for what could be done locally at this point.

CLOSING LUNCH

April 22 – Noon, Hotel Ballroom

Speaker: Rev. Dr. Tom Best

Former Director, Faith and Order Commission, WCC

The Church is one, and mission is integral to the nature and life of the Church. Therefore the churches must do mission ecumenically, together rather than separately and in isolation. This is the witness of Luke 24:47-48, and from other Biblical, Patristic, Reformation and Ecumenical sources alike. But what does this mean in the 21st century, in an era when the "old" world seems to be abandoning the Gospel in favor of secularism, and the "new" world remains hostile or indifferent to it? We need urgently an ecumenical mission practice which would make mission an expression of the unity of the Church. Such a practice would call the churches to new levels of mutual accountability, and inspire local congregations to undertake specific, practical acts of common mission.

Rev. Dr. Thomas F. Best, former Director of the Faith and Order Commission of the World Council of Churches, holds the B.A. from Harvard, the M.A. from Oxford, and the Ph.D. from the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley. In the service of Christian unity he has pursued issues of unity and mission, unity and the churches' ethical engagement, the vision of the united and uniting churches, issues of liturgy, especially baptism and the eucharist, and the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. His extensive publications include articles in The Oxford Dictionary of the Christian Church, Die Religion in Geschichte und Gegenwart (RGG), The New SCM Dictionary of Liturgy and Worship, the Dictionary of the Ecumenical Movement, and, most recently, Baptism Today (Liturgical Press) and "Ecclesiology and Ecumenism" in The Routledge Companion to the Christian Church.

1 Ecumenism 101

Level 1 (Session I)

Dr. Thomas Ferguson (TEC) and
Dr. Michael Trice (ELCA)

This seminar is for all those who are new to the formal structures of the ecumenical movement. It provides a brief history and introduction to the movement, context for current dialogues, overview of national and international ecumenical conversations, and a sampling of new and emerging discussions. The presentation will draw on the attendees' experience of ecumenical engagement and will encourage conversation and interaction.

2 Ministry: A Retrospective
on the Impact of Baptism,
Eucharist and Ministry

Level 1 (Sessions I & II)

Rev. Dr. Joe Small (PCUSA)

This seminar is the third in a three-year series on "Baptism, Eucharist, and Ministry," Faith and Order Paper No. 111 issued by the World Council of Churches in 1982. This year's focus will be on the theological and practical implications of Ministry. Among items to be discussed is whether increased mutual understanding expressed in the statement may allow some churches to recognize each others' order(s) of ministry and exchange ministers when such might further the mission of the church.

3 Racism as an Impediment to Ecumenism

Level 2 (Sessions II & III)

Bp. Hope Morgan Ward (UMC)
Jane Oasin (TEC)
Curtis Kearns (PCUSA)

This seminar is the second of a multi-workshop series on dismantling racism in our churches as we seek to live faithfully into God's gift of unity. It will explore the implications of racism to Christian unity from the Caucasian perspective and the various resources our communions have to share as we seek to live into God's admonition to act justly, to love mercy and walk humbly with our God.

4 The Origin of the Modern Ecumenical Movement - The 100th Anniversary of the Edinburgh Conference Level 3 (Session I)

Rev. Dr. Steven Bevans, SVD (RC)

This seminar highlights the 1910 World Missionary Conference, held in Edinburgh, Scotland, convened to study missionary endeavors in light of the circumstances of the day. By creating the International Missionary Council, the Conference affirmed the ideal of evangelization of the world in its generation, as stated by the conference organizer, J. R. Mott. Over 1200 delegates from around the world participated, representing many Christian bodies, including 160 Missionary Boards or Societies. Conference subjects included: carrying the Gospel to the non-Christian world, the local church in situations of mission, education, non-Christian religions, missionary training, church-state relations, and Christian unity. Many see the Conference as the beginning of the modern Ecumenical Movement.

5 Interfaith Relations: Current Status from a Christian Perspective Level 3 (Sessions I & III)

Dr. John Borelli (RC)

How do Christians relate in a pluralist, interreligious world? This seminar looks at current issues and the status of relations between Christians and Jews, Muslims, Hindus and Buddhists and the current relationship between ecumenical and interfaith relations in general; broader topics will be raised for discussion such as legitimacy, authority, consensus, religious pluralism, and dialogue.

6 Ecumenical Consultation on Ethical Decisions: Panel Level 2 (Sessions II & III)

Fr. John Crossin (RC)
Rev. Dr. Robin Steinke (ELCA)
Rev. Dr. Timothy Sedgwick (TEC)

Ethical and moral issues are challenges to ecumenical relationships. How should there be ecumenical consultation as a church body in considering a decision on moral and ethical issues? Each presenter will provide a framework for approaching ethical and moral concerns from their theological, ecclesiological, and ecumenical tradition.

7 A Tale of Two Pontiffs: Ecumenical & Interreligious Affairs between John Paul II and Benedict XVI Level 2 (Session I)

Fr. Dennis McManus, PhD (RC)

What's the difference between recent Popes? This seminar provides an overview of the ecumenical and interreligious policies of Popes John Paul II and Benedict XVI. It will examine the backgrounds – cultural, personal, theological – of each Pope and their developed thinking on how the Catholic Church can approach the establishment of good relations and the construction of dialogues with other religious communities. Attention will be given to present conflicts and likely outcomes and updates on current issues before the USCCB.

8 Preaching Ecumenism Level 2 (Sessions II & III)

Rev. Dr. Michael Kinnamon (DoC)

This workshop will examine the important task of preaching ecumenism, asking how Christians can best communicate the Good News of God's reconciling, community-forming love, made known in Jesus Christ. Participants will 1) read various sermons (emailed in advance) that are explicitly ecumenical in focus, exploring if and why they are effective; 2) develop outlines for possible sermons based on scriptural and patristic texts; and 3) suggest principles or guidelines for preaching that is intentionally ecumenical.

9 The Holy Spirit and Christian Unity

Level 3 (Sessions II & III)

Dr. Despina Prassas (Orthodox)
Rev. Dr. Robby Waddell (CoG)

The Orthodox and Pentecostal traditions converge on the gift and role of the Holy Spirit for Christian Unity. For the Orthodox, the gift of the Spirit brings about a liberation of life's possibilities, which in no way is supernatural or unique. The Spirit descends on human nature in order to transform the way in which we do what we do, thus harmonizing our existence with God's will and renewing our understanding of our abilities. In the Pentecostal tradition, the Spirit's role is the empowerment of Christian witness. The inspiration of speech in glossolalia is paradigmatic. The Spirit also empowered a change in the way early Christians acted, e.g. hospitality, prayer, and common welfare. It is in the Spirit of hospitality that Christian unity naturally develops.

10 CCT Domestic Poverty Initiative

Level 3 (Sessions I & III)

Rev. Dr. Richard Hamm (DoC)

Christian Churches Together (CCT) represents faith families of the historic Protestant, Roman Catholic, Pentecostal, Evangelical, and Orthodox Churches. The major social issue that CCT is addressing is domestic poverty. This initiative unites the efforts of Christians in addressing this humanitarian need.

11 Building New Fire

Level 2 (Sessions I & II)

Jordan Blevins (CoB) and Shantha K. Ready (RC)

When more young adults than ever are disenfranchised from the Church, the New Fire movement is seizing the opportunity to connect and organize young adult ecumenical leadership to re-invigorate and re-envision cooperative Christian community. A new generation has discovered the transforming work of Christian unity amidst the many diverse and wonderful expressions within the body of Christ. Through the sharing of story, tradition, education, and resources, young adults are finding new ways to witness to the reconciling love of Christ at work in the world. At its core, "New Fire is movement-building work to call the Church to re-imagine its mission to live out the God-given mandates of love, justice, unity, and peace on a global, regional, and local level."

12 JustFaith Curriculum

Level 2 (Session I)

Jack Jezreel (RC)

JustFaith® is an extensive, conversion-based process that provides a context in which participants can grow in their commitment to care for the vulnerable and to become advocates for justice. This program serves to strengthen the growing commitment of churches to be agents of social transformation, mercy and compassion. JustFaith was first conceived and distributed within Roman Catholic parishes. However, broader interest within the Christian community has prompted an ecumenical version, offered in partnership with Bread for the World, a nationwide Christian movement that seeks justice for the world's hungry people by organizing churches to lobby our nation's decision-makers.

The NATIONAL WORKSHOP on CHRISTIAN UNITY

ORIGINS of the NATIONAL WORKSHOP

In 1963, a group of Roman Catholics, in the context of Vatican II, saw a need to equip local leadership for the task of ecumenical ministry. In 1969, they invited leaders of other Christian communions to join them, and today the national ecumenical officers of the churches continue their oversight of the workshop, which is planned by national and local committees. The workshop is sponsored by the National Association of Ecumenical Officers. There are both denominational and ecumenical sessions during the workshop. This is the 42nd year of the National Workshop on Christian Unity, which celebrates the spirit of ecumenism by:

- Providing meeting seminars for all who are concerned with the ministry of Christian unity: laity, clergy, ecumenical officers, theologians, staff of ecumenical organizations;
- Stimulating an exchange of ideas and experiences among people concerned with Christian unity and the bodies they represent;

- Being a source and balance between national planning and local responsibility; general ecumenical discussions and particular interchurch conversations; and regional leadership efforts and local realities;
- Encouraging denominational networks to develop and serve as a framework within which they can interact, and
- Celebrating the unity that already exists among Christians and searching for ways to overcome the divisions that remain.

The NATIONAL WORKSHOP LOGO

The logo affirms the cross which is central to Christian unity. The elements on either side of the cross suggest hands of prayer embracing the reconciling cross, at the same time creating the outline of a chalice, which represents the real although imperfect communion of Christianity, and the anticipated full unity which is the goal of the ecumenical movement. The late John R. Fulton designed the logo for the National Workshop on Christian Unity.
